

RE: Meta Claim

Dear Client,

Thank you so much for entrusting your case to the lawyers and staff at Wagstaff & Cartmell. It is a privilege to work on your behalf. Over the last 18 months, the case against social media companies like Meta (Instagram & Facebook), Tik-Tok, Snapchat, and YouTube has been working its way through the Courts.

In October of 2023, Judges in both the Federal Court in the Northern District of California, and California State Court allowed the case to go forward and denied the defense motion to dismiss the claims. Since then, discovery has been well under way. We are working diligently to hold social media giants to account for using America's youth to create profit at the detriment of their mental health.

It is now time to get your own case against social media companies on file with the Court. This will require you to fill out a Plaintiff's Fact Sheet, a document that gives the court, your lawyer, and the defendants all the information we need to adjudicate your claim. In the coming weeks, lawyers and staff from Wagstaff & Cartmell will be reaching out to you to gather information needed to pursue your claim. We are happy to take your call and answer your questions at any time. Please take this time to ensure we have the correct contact information and gather any records you may have relevant to your claim. We are looking forward to speaking soon!

Very truly yours,

Lucy R Malone